

Ramakrishna Mission Sevashram Vivekananda Puram, Lucknow

History of the Institution

1. The Ramakrishna Mission Sevashram, Lucknow, the local branch centre of the world famous Ramakrishna Mission, P.O. Belur Math, District Howrah, West Bengal, was started in a small way in 1914, for humanitarian work, by a band of young people inspired by the lofty teachings of Swami Vivekananda, the great patriot saint of India. They helped its growth with years of selfless work, and gradually its activities of social and religious services went on increasing. At first it acquired a plot of land at Ahata Gungey Nawab, Aminabad, Lucknow and constructed its own premises through the munificence of the charity minded local people and devotees. By 1925, its activities had further increased when in that year the Sevashram was affiliated to the Ramakrishna Mission, a religious and philanthropic organization founded by Swami Vivekananda, at Belur Math, District Howrah (West Bengal); this Mission is registered under the Societies Act XXI of 1860, as revised according to the West Bengal Act XXVI of 1961. In the post - independence period, the accommodation and space available at Aminabad was found to be much too inadequate for meeting public demands for its services, particularly for the Mission's dispensary. The Ramakrishna Mission Sevashram, hereinafter called Sevashram, in 1961-62 with the benign help of the State Government secured allotment of the present plot of land in the Trans-Gomti Area for establishing the Vivekananda Polyclinic and thereby for enhanced medical and health, educational, religious and cultural services. The Polyclinic scheme was a bold and ambitious one designed for setting up a Medical Centre of a new type with up-to-date modern diagnostic facilities to serve mainly the outpatients with liberal domiciliary medical services. The Branch Centre at Aminabad was shifted to the new site at the Vivekananda Puram in January 1967. The massive and extensive Vivekananda Polyclinic building for the outpatients came up with financial assistance received from Government and helpful cooperation and support from all quarters. The new building was formally dedicated for public service on 18th February 1970. From June 1970 twelve well equipped Outpatient Departments started functioning.

Activities of the Sevashram

2. In the activities of the Sevashram, emphasis has largely been on social service in Medical and Health Sector for rendering relief to our suffering people in accordance with the teachings of Sri Ramakrishna, ('Service to Jiva is Service to Shiva') i.e. spiritually dedicated service of humanity with utmost reverence is worship of God.

3. The Sevashram has been serving the public in three interconnected spheres:
(1) Medical & Health, (2) Education (3) Religious & Cultural

Medical and Health Services

Vivekananda Polyclinic and Institute of Medical Sciences

4. These activities mainly centre round the Vivekananda Polyclinic and Institute of Medical Sciences, Lucknow, hereinafter called the Polyclinic, which started functioning from 1970. The Polyclinic has come up as prominent, neat, and clean Medical Centre of its own type in the State. It has been providing extensive modern diagnostic facilities, with Spiral CT Scan equipment and efficient laboratories through which specialised treatment for several diseases is rendered. It has several disciplines including Ophthalmology, dentistry, Physiotherapy, Ear-Nose-Throat Departments, etc. The newly added ICU, NICU, Dialysis Unit, etc. have been attracting increasing number of patients to the Polyclinic from far and near. The Polyclinic has given a new lead in placing emphasis on domiciliary treatment in the Outpatient department suited to our economy marked with limited resources, and increasing population. The outpatient departments remain open for eight hours on all working days excluding declared holidays. An emergency service of all-round 24 hours was started on 1st April, 1982. An Ayurvedic Section and a Homeopathic Section are also functioning in the Outpatient Departments. We have also added a Naturopathic and Yogic Therapy Cell under the Physiotherapy Department. The patients are free to choose any system of medicine to suit their requirements.

5. The Indoor Department was started in 1972-73 with provision for 100 beds with the facilities of Surgical, Medical, Paediatrics, Maternity, Gynaecology, Orthopaedic, Dental, Ear-Nose-Throat, and Laboratory Departments, etc. The number of indoor beds has been increased to 350.

6. The Polyclinic was greatly handicapped on account of acute shortage of trained personnel, particularly nurses. Hence, the proposal to start a General Nurse's Training Centre, in the Polyclinic, which would be helpful in comprehensively training nurses, for its patients in particular and for Uttar Pradesh in general, was eventually sanctioned by the U.P. State Medical Faculty vide its letter No. GNT/2999 dated 27th July, 1987. The dream took concrete shape in the establishment of the institution named 'Vivekananda Polyclinic School of Nursing', in the Vivekananda Polyclinic premises in Vivekananda Puram, Lucknow (hereinafter called the School) in accordance with the syllabi and regulations for the Courses in General Nursing and Midwifery as prescribed by the Indian Nursing Council from time to time, the School's external examinations are conducted by and under the authority of U.P. State Medical Faculty.

Basic Principles of the School

7. The Basic Principle guiding the School of Nursing is the noble Ideal of service with a spirit of renunciation, sacrificing one's self interest for a greater cause - which the Ramakrishna Mission endeavours to give effect through its multifarious activities.

The motto as given by Swami Vivekananda is Service to Man is Service to God, thus forming the Basic Principle of caring for patients with a spirit of devotion and commitment, regardless of caste, creed or religion and therefore the School shall endeavour to train the students to acquire knowledge, develop skills and positive attitude, as also enable them to carry out their duties and responsibilities as competent professional nurses imbued with the above ideal.
